READY FOR CHOLERA.

Clear Up the Rubbish Before Disease Appears.

Experience of a Physician with a Dyspeptic Patient.

All Danger Over in Less Than Ten Days A Simple Treatment.

Clear up the rubbish from back yards and sweeten cellars with brom, scrubbing brushes and disinfectant. Now's the time to get ready for cholera," says the Boston Globe.

Clean streets and keys diminish the chances of cholera but it is of more vital importance that the natural gates and sewers and [illegible] to the healthy cor[illegible]sels is through the [illegible] sudden pallor also [illegible] ervs regulate healthy blood possible and sustained intelligence, dyspepsia, liver complaint and nervous weakness cannot exist where nerves and blood are vigorous and in harmony.

A correspondent comes from Rushford, where Dr. A. Page one of the most prominent physicians in the state resides. He writes:

About three months ago I secured for the first time two bottles of Paine's celery compound. Gradually I left them to one side until I found one of my children was very ill from dyspepsia, attended by a severe headache. I then gave her a dose of the celery compound and in an experiment I gave him one of them telling him to take it according to direction on the bottle. In spite my surprise even [illegible] he walked into my office and said, "Doctor I believe I am cured of my dyspepsia."

Now after having taken the second bottle I am so much improved as to feel like a second or a childman being entirely free from [illegible] disagreeable sensations after eating. Since first commencing the use of Paine's celery compound he has gained [illegible] and is to every picture of health.

I shall cheerfully answer any communications I may receive in regard to the compound I had hope that my experience may be of benefit to some professional brother who is not too narrow minded to believe professionally.

BACKACHE
No trouble is harder to bear than pains in the back and sides. They sap the energies and tire and weaken the body. A weak back is readily strengthened in most cases, unless disordered kidneys are the cause. In that case all the more time is required, but a few bottles of Dr. Baker's Grape Cure, put up by Baker Chemical Works, Portland, Maine, will certainly cure it. Disordered kidneys is very often the cause of backache, and also its weak stomach. The terrible Bright's disease and the horrors of gravel follow neglected kidney weakness and backache in one degree or the presence. We have the testimonial of a man who suffered for eighteen months after doctors gave him up and got no relief. The pains interfered with his work disturbed his sleep and he was almost willing to die. He tried Grape Cure and was entirely well in two months.

It is not wise to let any pain exist. Confidence is upon you and the doctor must be called, for a cure is easy. Dr. Baker's Grape Cure is a safe, vegetable compound of Native Grape extract and will relieve in 24 hours, cure badly and it surely cures. The value of the kidneys is self-evident. Get a circular from the first dealer. At Druggists, $1.

The English traders in Singapore are indignant and protest that the blockade will cut off all communication with English German houses in Bangkok.

Hong Kong traders on the other hand expect a great increase of business from the closing of the Bangkok market. They hope to see large supplies to Saigon, as the French islands of Cochin China.

Money Wanted to Carry On Municipal Business

The financial pinch in our parts of the country is just beginning to be felt here to a considerable extent. Mr. Brightman says he is having difficulty also in negotiating temporary loans in anticipation of the year's taxes and he is considering how far he should go in the matter of paying interest before shutting down on payment of wages to other departments.

Considering the Question of Closing Their Mills

Within twenty four hours there has been a great change in the feeling on the part of the manufacturers. The West Amoskeag mill managers having publicly announced their intention to shut down four weeks in August has led other mill men to follow their example. This morning it is reported that the Hunt and American Linen mills will shut down in August for a longer or shorter period, dependent wholly on the condition of the money market. The mills are well able to meet all their obligations, but the directors feel that it is useless to pay eight per cent for time loans to enable them to pay the operatives wages. Some of the manufacturers say they can not get money at any percentage and they are serious in considering the wisdom of closing their concerns for a short period.

The Banking Men

here say they are doing their best to accommodate customers and still protect their depositors who may call on them at any moment. They have no money to loan except at long credits and of course they say the mills cannot afford to go into any form of speculation at this time.

MAINE MELANGE.

A Chapter of More or Less Serious Accidents.

A Thoughtful Man, and Other Items of Interest.

Androscoggin

A man named Perreault was arrested the other day for the burglary at J. Bellveau's store, on Lincoln street, Lewiston. The police found the man through the sale of a knife, which is supposed had come from the store. When arrested the man had one in his pocket like it, and they were both recognized by Mr. Bellveau as exactly like those stolen. He also had a meerschaum pipe which agrees with the description of those lost and which Mr. Bellveau thinks was once in his stock. Perreault says he does not know how the knife and pipe came in his pocket. The police have clues which will probably lead to the arrest of others.

A well known traveling man who makes regular visits to Lewiston brings with him his own private apparatus for cooling off the nerves here of his room before retiring for the night. It is an electric motor which propels a revolving fan. The power is conveyed from the electric light circuit by taking off the fine incandescent lamp and attaching the motor.

Important lumber interests are seriously menaced by the low water in the Androscoggin river, said to be the lowest for years. Twenty millions of spruce logs are lying upon the dry rocks and bars. 3,000 000 are rafting slowly progress. They are tributary to the Gowen, Pierce & Wilson, of Lewiston, Orrin McClinton & Co. of Canton, Lewis Driver. They have thirty men at work at Gilead. It is doubtful whether the logs can reach this destination. The lumbermen are in a fix, for rain [illegible]

Aroostook

Mr. Sidney Smith, for many years a resident of Houlton, died suddenly [illegible] in Minneapolis, July 18, aged seventy three years. Mr. Smith removed West about 1852 and was one of the first settlers of Minneapolis, and a prominent merchant of the city, and much esteemed as a citizen. He was the eldest son of the late Isaac B. and Judith Houlton Smith, and brother of J. Henry Smith of this town. He will be remembered by the older residents of Houlton.

Somerset

The meeting on the 19th prox. of the Somerset railway committee to decide on the location of the [illegible] for the last time to secure the right of way will probably be successfully. After a short discussion they found that they were willing, faster than they cared to, and began to realize the critical situation they were in. They agreed to row on and to avoid the quicksands, but hurried [illegible] reached Bingham.

Waldo

Mr. Rich Mitteredge of Belfast recently completed a wedding ring that is the wonder of Hamden. [illegible] the ring is engraved the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments and the Apostles' Creed, which contains twenty four of letters and 400 verses of Proverbs, probably difficult sentence paragraph, 31 verses. The writing is divided into circles to [illegible] division are four circles drawn around a five-cent piece. In each circle the Lord's prayer is written, four times, or at the rate of 57,600 words on a 3x5 postal. Another section has 1,000 words to a space 1x3 inches, there being six lines to every sixteenth of an inch.

Washington

Mr. A. H. Clapp met with quite an accident on Thursday. As he was passing along the gang plank from the steamer to the wharf at Robbinston he tripped slightly and felt something give way in the leg. On examination by Dr. Smith he was found to have badly strained a muscle from which it is feared he will be disabled for some time.

Eastport Sentinel: The United States Fish Commissioner's steamer Fish Hawk is now at Eastport harbor, is to remain a month in the waters to assist the International Fish Commission which is appointed to negotiate with a commission between Great Britain and this country, to investigate the fisheries in waters adjoining and contiguous to Canada and the United States, and more especially the cause of their rapid decrease in the St. Croix and adjacent waters. The St. John, the next objective point of the commission and as the examination into the habits of the fish frequenting these waters and fishery methods in use is to be an exhaustive one no time is to be spent in this vicinity. Prof. Richard Rathbun, assistant in charge of the scientific inquiry of the U. S. Fish Commission, with his corps of assistants, Messrs. H. F. Moore, B. S. Hardy and W. C. Kendall, the latter arriving here Monday having established a laboratory in the power house of Messrs. Milliken & Son at their mill and Capt. Jerry Sullivan the veteran boatman has been engaged to pilot the steamer in the discharge of the commission while in the waters. Dr. William Wesche, a prominent official of the Toronto Department of Marine and Fisheries, with assistants upon the part of Great Britain is working conjointly with Prof. Rathbun.

Mr. William Pike of Eastport, met with a very painful and serious accident near his home, on Friday evening last while at work in the [illegible] mill. A pair of horses, one a young and spirited animal attached to a mowing machine and driven by one of Mr. Pike's men were mowing in a field near the house, when the young horse in some way got his foot over a trace and commenced to be [illegible] badly. Mr. Pike at once ran to the assistance of the driver and while attempting to get the horse's foot over the trace the team started, and before they could be stopped they ran the section bar against Mr. Pike's heel, the rapidly moving knives of which severed cords, muscles and bone into the ankle joint, making a terrible wound. The sufferer was at once removed to his home and Drs. J. M. and H. Y. Jonah summoned, who in dressing the cut found a wedge-shaped piece of bone had been cut from the bone of the heel. In addition to the lacerated and incised wounds Mr. Pike is now doing as well as could be expected considering the severity of his injury.

A Calculating Young Man

London Telegraph, Mr. Jacques Inagli after puzzling the savants of the French Institute to account for his peculiar skill in solving arithmetical and mathematical problems has come to London in the hope of finding some one who will be able to unravel to him the mystery of his existence, and gave forth yesterday afternoon in the Hotel Victoria, Northumberland avenue, before a company of experts, an exhibition of his powers. There is no denying the fact that Inaudi is par excellence a calculating young man. The manner in which he manipulates sextillions, quintillions billions and millions is enough to make a chancellor of the exchequer envious, while for cube roots and square roots his appetite is simply voracious.

In fact, M. Inaudi seems to live on figures. For example he performed the addition of six lines of six figures a sum in subtraction beginning with sextillions and descending to units; the multiplication of six figures by the figures and the extraction of the square and cube roots of five figures all at once, and repeated from beginning to end, without looking at them all the figures on the blackboard representing these involved sums. Moreover, he does his calculations while playing a game of dominoes or talking with a companion. Dr. Charcot, the French specialist, inclines to the idea that Inaudi has got two brains. If he [illegible] Inaudi [illegible] to the test, despite [illegible] Sir William Harcourt could have had but one lesson from the new calculator in the art of manipulating millions before the introduction of his budget, taxpayers might have been spared the infliction of a penny in the income tax.

Whig and Courier.

SATURDAY, JULY 29, 1893.

It is Different Now.

[Boston Globe, July 25.]
In their earnest efforts to free the country from the burdens imposed by Republican folly, vote-seeking tactics and wild extravagance, a Democratic Administration and Democratic Congress will not lack the staunch support of the American public, which can neither be cajoled nor scared into forgetting the real issue of the time.

[Boston Globe, July 27.]
What possible profit, partisan or otherwise, can result from the calamity tactics up which some of our contentious contemporaries have seen fit to indulge, wholly out of season? We are all in the same box, however varied our opinions may be on National issues.

The above extracts afford an excellent idea of the attitude of the average Democratic organ to-day. For the past thirty years they have been assailing Republican legislation as inimical to the best interests of the country, but now that Republican prosperity has given way to Democratic depression they regard it as the unpardonable sin to refer to the conditions that have led to the business upheaval. From Cleveland down the Democrats to-day are seeking to evade the responsibility for the very unsatisfactory condition of affairs that prevails in this country, by attempting to attribute it solely to the effect of the silver law, or as the Globe stated it only last Tuesday, "Republican folly, vote seeking tactics and wild extravagance." On Thursday, however, the Globe is of the opinion that it is all wrong for the Republican papers to bowl over this false theory set up by the Democrats for more partisan effect, and place the responsibility where it rightfully belongs.

We are now reaping the predicted results of last fall's election. The people understood it now, although they refused to be warned in time, and it has even dawned upon a considerable number of the Democrats themselves, who are tumbling over each other in their eagerness to repudiate the Chicago platform, or that portion in which all protection is denounced as unconstitutional.

The Democratic Platform.

The editor of the Boston Herald is developing into a humorist. A few days since he prepared a long article, the burden of which was to show that the tariff declarations of the Democratic party were not to be taken seriously, as that particular plank was nothing more than a "mere generality" placed in the platform by tinkshief makers. Since then he has had occasion to refer to another portion of the platform upon which he lays great stress, as will be seen from the following quotation:

The seventh section of the Democratic national platform denounces the Sherman act of 1890 as "a cowardly makeshift, fraught with possibilities of danger in the future, which should make all of its supporters as well as its author anxious for its speedy repeal." On this platform Mr. Cleveland was chosen as candidate and elected President, and as the representative of the party he can, carrying out the mandate he has received, exercise his personal influence in a way entirely consistent with the best interests of the nation.

It is even more significant that Mr. Cleveland was elected on a platform declaring all protection unconstitutional and pledging the party to the prompt repeal of the existing laws. If any portion of the Democratic platform is entitled to consideration it is this tariff plank. The majority of the committee on resolutions reported a plank in which the necessity of protection to the extent of the difference in the labor cost at home and abroad was recognized. This precipitated an earnest discussion, the result of which was that the convention, by a very large majority, rejected the tariff plank referred to and substituted the radical declaration that all protection is unconstitutional, which stands to-day as the Democratic doctrine.

In view of these facts it would be interesting to know on just what ground the Herald throws out the one resolution that must be accepted as reflecting the Democratic idea of so-called "tariff reform," while it holds the President to a strict recognition of another plank adopted by the same convention. If the President is bound by any portion of the platform he is bound to recognize in it as a whole the wisdom of the party that elected him, and it is this fact that is in a large measure causing the business disturbance to-day.

The attitude of the Herald toward the party platform recalls the remark of a Democratic banker at the close of a Presidential campaign. After the result was declared and it was found that the candidate for whom he had voted had been defeated he said: "I don't care if a Republican President has been elected, I will not recognize him."

New Hawaiian Treaty.

The latest advices from Honolulu are to the effect that the Provisional Government's policy and position regarding future treaty relations with the United States are said will continue to be in brief as follows:

The new treaty drawn, which was a document covering objections which arose in the United States during the visit of the Hawaiian Commissioners to Washington, will not be forwarded. The treaty matter has been fully discussed in special sessions of the Councils lately, and the draft of the new treaty has within a few days been returned from the committee, and has been endorsed by the Government and Councils unofficially. The document contains five articles, which are briefly as follows:

Article I cedes from the date of the exchange of ratification of the treaty, without reserve, all rights of sovereignty in and over the Hawaiian Islands and dependencies, to the United States, to become an integral part thereof.

Article II cedes and transfers the absolute fee of all Government and Crown lands, public buildings, forts, and harbors, fortifications, military or naval equipments, and all other public property.

Article III provide that the existing Government of the Hawaiian Islands and the laws relating to its internal policy are to be continued for five years, to be executed and carried out under the direction of a United States Commissioner appointed by the President and Senate, said commissioner to reside in the Hawaiian Islands, with power to veto within ten days any act passed by the local Government, which shall thereupon become void unless afterward approved by the President of the United States.

Article IV. prohibits the immigration of Chinese laborers into the Hawaiian Islands until such time as Congress shall provide further legislation. It also prohibits Chinese laborers now here from entering the United States. Otherwise immigration laws and labor laws are to remain as they are, where they do not conflict with the Constitution of the United States or such future laws as Congress may provide.

Article V provides that the public debt shall be assumed by the United States, but the Hawaiian Government shall continue to pay the interest thereon, Congress to provide the future currency of the islands.

The Government has decided to include the substance of the new treaty draft in instructions to Commissioner Alexander and Minister Thurston, who will bring the matter before the United States Government in the form of suggestions in case President Cleveland decides finally to withdraw the Harrison treaty of annexation and determines to submit therefor a new treaty or some modifications of the old. Professor W. D. Alexander will carry these instructions with him to Washington, July 25th or 27th.

On the day the steamer left Honolulu a handsome koa-wood cane was given to Mr. Spreckels. A splendid gold head was attached to it, inscribed as follows: "In memoria. From your fellow-citizens, doomed to die at the hands of the Murderous Society of the Annexation Club. Threatened men live long; leben sie hundert jahre und mehrals sie ben."

The first of the signatures on the gold head is that of Lillie Kalani. Following her name is that of J. Blount, which, stands for the American Minister. This is not the first time Mr. Blount has shown his sympathy with the Royalists, but he has never before manifested it so openly.

PITTSFIELD RACES.

Large Crowd Witnesses the Macomber-Caywood and Elgin Winners.

Special Despatch to Whig and Courier.

PITTSFIELD, July 29. A large crowd gathered at Union Park this afternoon and witnessed some very fine races.

Mr. Fred W. Hill's fine four-year-old Caywood won the three minute race, purse $100, in a very handy manner, for while there were some good ones in the field they did not have speed enough to force him to his clip. Best time 2 28¾.

Caywood will start in the colt stakes, and the colt that beats him will have to go very fast.

Second money was won by Dixon, owned by C. H. Gardner, of Skowhegan; third money by Pattie, owned by Charles Cayford, of Skowhegan, and fourth money by Greenwood, owned by Charles Wentworth, of Clinton. Time 2 28¾.

In the 2.35 class, purse $150, first money was taken by Berdan, owned by W. S. Morrill, of Pittsfield, in three straight heats. Second money was taken by Jack Wyman, owned by H. B. Cormier, of Pittsfield, third money by H. owned by C. Hern, of Waterville, and fourth money by Simmelw, owned by J. K. Walker, of Bangor. Time 2.30¾.

Bangor also carried off the honors in the 2.30 class, purse $150, which was won by Eddie in straight heats. Second money was won by Helen S., owned by Nelson Weston, of Skowhegan, and third money by Hipponax, owned by E. H. Nedley, of Monroe. The races will continue to-morrow.

The judges were Samuel Pompilly, of Lewiston, and A. Tufts, of Skowhegan. The times were Dr. Drake, of Pittsfield, A. W. Chase, and T. McAloon, of Bangor.

THE BEST YET.

Great Success of the Chautauqua Convention.

FRYEBURG, July 28. The first four days of the Maine State Chautauqua convention which is in session here have been a most decided success. The attendance was never larger, the grounds never more attractive nor the courses offered more interesting. A large crowd has been on the ground all day. Every cottage is filled and Bangor Chautauqua. The ladies' gymnasic class this morning under Prof. Robinson of the Dudley school, Boston, was the largest which has met.

Mrs. Beede, of Lewiston, conducted the third teachers' hour at ten o'clock. The subject was "The Evolution of the Sabbath School." The morning lecture was by Mr. H. Richmond, of the Andover Theological Seminary. Mr. Richmond has done a great deal of city missionary work in Boston and spoke very interestingly of his work, his subject being "Christ in a great city." Miss Annie Burrows of the School of Domestic Science, Boston, and lecturer in the Lasell Seminary, had charge of the afternoon the subject being "Fish and Frying." Mr. J. C. Ambrose, of Chicago, lectured very entertainingly on helping other folks. This evening Mr. Frank C. Baker, of Lynn, gave his second illustrated lecture in the auditorium on "The Holy Land; Joppa to the Sea of Galilee." It was largely attended and the views were unusually fine. Rev. G. D. Lindsay, of Portland, spoke briefly in introducing Mr. Baker. Rev. Preston Guernsey, of Williston, Mass., will preach Sunday in place of Rev. Matt Hughes. The convention has been a great success and crowds of Chautauquans are sojourning at the grounds.

GAY BAR HARBOR.

Many Interesting Events in the Social World.

Secretary Herbert Arrives on Friday Evening.

Distinguished Arrivals and Some Brilliant People.

[Special Correspondence Whig and Courier.]

BAR HARBOR, July 28. Taking it as a whole, July has been a cool and very well behaved month at Bar Harbor. Should August produce no hotter days than we have had so far, the summer residents will return to the various corners of the country with the feeling that there has been no heated season this year. To-day with its clear skies and fresh breeze is delightful for driving, but those who enjoy the water advantages and the proprietors of the boat wharves are in despair for there is too much sea for any pleasure in canoeing, sailing or rowing.

An addition to the harbor boats this season is the Golden-Rod, a new and trim steamer that plies between here and Somesville, stopping at Seal Harbor, Kimball's and Rock End, at Northeast and Southwest Harbors. Every day when the weather permits there is a large company of excursionists to take this trip, which is so picturesque, particularly through the eight miles of Somes Sound. The water is so deep in some parts that an ocean steamer could and from the great mountains on either side the steamer's whistle resounds and wakens the echoes for miles around. The musical clang of the quarrymen's hammers as they work on the huge blocks of granite under the white cloth canopies makes a pretty accompaniment to the gentle rush of waves against the boat. A little after twelve a landing is made at Somesville and there is time for dinner at the Central or Somes House or a lunch al fresco under the spreading trees at the head of the wharf. To miss this altogether delightful trip is to be ignorant of one of the most beautiful parts of Mt. Desert.

With the Nourmahal, the Mayflower and the Dolphin in the bay there will doubtless be plenty of excitement next week. The Astors are very popular socially and in their brief visit they have been entertained in various ways by many New York and Philadelphia friends. The Dolphin arrived early this morning, going direct to Sorrento, where Col. Lamont arrived on Thursday morning. Secretary Herbert doubtless had important matters to discuss with Col. Lamont and they lunched together at Hotel Sorrento.

Miss Isabel McIlhenny, of the New York Mail and Express, is among the guests at the Malvern. In addition to her correspondence Miss McIlhenny has been busy arranging for in aid of the Kindergarten and Potted Plant Association which was established by the Mail and Express through the efforts of Col. Shepard. It is pleasing to note how interested the society ladies have shown themselves in this worthy charity. Many have offered the use of their houses for the entertainment and Mrs. Richard H. Townsend, of Philadelphia, will give a garden party Saturday afternoon at Alden her beautiful summer home on the western shore and if the weather is fair it will be a grand event.

Miss McIlhenny is one of the brightest and most energetic journalists of the day. She is especially devoted to the poor children of New York and spends a great deal of time in trying to better their condition. She has written many charming stories of child life. Her name will be remembered by the reading public from her successful essay in a competition last fall when 900 essays were offered on the subject "Why I am a Protectionist." Miss McIlhenny winning the prize of two hundred dollars for her composition. The judges were Governor McKinley and Senators Aldrich and Hisdock. She is a vivacious brunette and a Thorough Business Woman.

Dinner-dances, lunches, concerts and tea are following in rapid succession at Kebo. On Tuesday the regular programme of daily events will begin and the variety is sufficient to please all tastes. The golf links and the race track are to be special features. In addition to the regular prizes offered at the tennis tournament, there will be a valuable silver cup offered by the cottagers of Bar Harbor, which must be won twice for final possession, but not necessarily on consecutive years. The games will begin on August 7.

Mr. George H. Smilie of the National Academy of Design of New York, is among the guests at the Newport House, where he has a few canvases on exhibition. Another well-known artist who came here last year for the first time and who declares she will never spend her summers elsewhere, is Miss Maria A'Becket, who occupies the Bungalow cottage of the Misses Lougstaff. Miss Louise Wood, a Philadelphia artist, has a picturesque studio on Emory Lane which she calls "The Paint-box." Miss Wood gave a reception to her friends last week at the Shelburne, assisting in receiving Mrs. Rachel Wood, of Philadelphia.

Miss Burton Harrison, the author, has arrived at Sea Urchins.

Her Cozy Summer Residence

on Eden street. Mrs. Harrison has recently returned from a four months' trip abroad visiting seven countries and storing up many interesting facts for her later literary work. Mrs. Harrison is one who dearly loves Bar Harbor. With her family she has been here for years, and she never wearies of chanting the praises of the invigorating air and the gorgeous scenery. She rather regrets that the summer visitors are so given over to social dissipations during their sojourns here when they might enjoy the beauties of nature in a less fatiguing way.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Morris, of Baltimore, are again at their house on Cottage street for the season. Their eldest daughter, Miss Lulu Morris, has for some time been considered one of the leading American beauties. Her engagement to Mr. Fred Gebhart, of New York, is declared, but they are evidently very good friends, driving and walking together continually. Mr. Gebhart is a with a strong face and dignified bearing. Those who have been led to believe that he was a simpering fop, by the silly newspaphs that have been circulated about him, would realize their mistake should they meet him.

Rev. W. S. Rainsford, of New York, who with Mrs. Rainsford is the guest of Mrs. Frederick Rhinelander Jones, at Red Point, will preach at the Episcopal church Sunday. Rev. A. D. Mayo, of Boston, will fill the pulpit at the Unitarian chapel and Prof. Harris, of Andover, will be at the Congregational church.

Secretary Herbert at Bar Harbor.

[To Associated Press.]

BAR HARBOR, July 28. The Dolphin with Secretary Herbert on board, arrived here this evening from Sorrento. The Secretary and Miss Herbert lunched with Secretary Lamont at Sorrento today. They will remain here a few days and then sail to Bath to inspect the shipping and be in Washington next Friday. They will not go to Machias as planned as the Machias will not be there.

He expects warm times in Washington in more senses than one. He does not care to discuss the financial situation. He will not come ashore to-night.

Miss Derby gave a lunch to-day at Kebo. Mrs. W. E. Strong gave a dinner there to-night.

The yacht Helen, owned by Edgar Scott, with Mr. Harrison and party on board, arrived to-day.

A hop occurred at the Louisburg to-night.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES.

World's Fair Managers in a Decided Quandary.

They Hardly Dare to Close the Gates Next Sunday,

And if They Open They Will be Open to an Action.

CHICAGO, July 28. The hearing of the contempt proceedings against the World's Fair management for closing the gates of the fair on Sunday in violation of the injunction issued by Judge Stein, was on to-day. Attorney Eddy, on behalf of the fair management, argued that the injunction bill has been so amended as to render it invalid. On his advice the gates had been closed.

Everything now points to open gates next Sunday. It is not believed that the directors feel warranted in violating Judge Stein's injunction during the pendency of this hearing. Attorney Mason contends that to open the gates would be another offense and constitute grounds for another action.

After the answer of the fair officers was submitted, Judge Stein asked the attorney for the complainants if they had been furnished with a copy of the documents in time to enable them to answer to-day. They answered in the negative, whereupon the court gave them until Monday morning next to answer.

GOLD COMING BACK.

Gold in Treasury Expected to Soon Pass Hundred Millions Mark.

WASHINGTON, July 28. The large orders given by New York financial houses for gold abroad to be imported into this country are regarded at the Treasury Department as a favorable symptom of returning confidence. The heavy shipment of cereals abroad within the past two months has materially reduced the balance of trade against us. In such circumstances it will be natural for the United States to continue to receive gold from abroad.

Gold in considerable quantities is also coming here from the West Indies, and from present indications the gold in the treasury will soon pass $100,000,000. It is to-day $97,500,000 and when the $100,000,000 mark is passed the treasury will again resume the issuance of gold certificates which, by law, had to be suspended when the treasury gold was reduced below $100,000,000.

The French Blockade of Siam.

LONDON, July 28. Sir Edward Gray, parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, in the House of Commons to-day said Lord Dufferin, British ambassador to France, had telegraphed yesterday to the foreign office that M. Develle, French foreign minister, had informed him that the French blockade would begin July 31. Later in the day Capt. Jones, British minister to Siam, had send a cable despatch from Bangkok announcing that the blockade had commenced on July 26. Capt. Jones' statement was afterward confirmed by the naval officer commanding at Singapore.

Three days had apparently been allowed for neutral vessels to leave Bangkok. The government, Sir Edward concluded, had telegraphed to Paris for a prompt explanation of the seeming discrepancy in the time of establishing the blockade.

Rumored Dissensions in French Cabinet.

LONDON, July 28. It is rumored here that there are dissensions in the French cabinet growing out of the troubles with Siam. There are Roots in HIRES' Rootbeer. At first thought there seems nothing unusual in this statement, and in our forefather's days it would have been a truism, for they gathered the roots and made the beer themselves, but times have changed and rootbeer has changed with them, until now the claim "there are roots in it" can only be fairly made of one rootbeer, and that is HIRES.

HIRES' Rootbeer is made from the most carefully selected roots, herbs, barks and berries, which are skillfully combined and then steeped exactly as our grandmothers did it. The extract so made has all the well known virtues of nature, and therefore makes a most healthful drink; but as a coloring matter it cannot hold a candle to what modern chemists can prepare. The chemicals used in making artificial preparations are very powerful. This accounts for their otherwise remarkable claim that one bottle will make from five to ten gallons; it being merely a matter of how strong a taste, or deep a color, the consumer may prefer. There is no such elasticity about HIRES' Rootbeer. It is made to do good as well as taste good, and a 5 gallon package—which only costs 25 cents—would no more make 10 gallons of good Rootbeer, than could the proper quantity of tea to make 5 cupfuls be expected to make 10 cupfuls of good tea.

The general question as to the relative merits of Rootbeers has been unmistakably decided by the people who purchased 2,880,278 bottles of HIRES' last year—far more than the combined sales of other kinds—; but when it comes to an individual selection, the consumer should keep in mind the fact that there are roots in HIRES' Rootbeer, and

Avoid the "other kinds."

The Historic Arab Steed

Good Horseflesh is as rare in the desert as it is in England or America writes Colonel Dodge U S A in Harper's There are more high grade horses in Kentucky to-day, per head of population than the first home of the ancestors of all blooded stock has ever boasted A faultless horse is a jewel of great price It is rarely to be found, and like the scriptural jewel a rash must often sell all that he hath to buy it

Where are the Arabian horses you ask on reaching Morocco or Algeria Those are Arabians—thoroughbreds comes the answer with a gesture toward some diminutive equine specimens for all the world like broncos

The splendid beautiful Arabians of which we have heard—which who have come to these many thousand miles to worship Ah you must go to the desert for those You ordinarily journey to the edge of the desert perhaps Bikra way or perchance to the first oasis on your route beyond, but alas, it is always a sheik or caliph further on who has the perfect creature your eyes long to feast upon The reason is not far to seek Good horses come solely from selection and breeding But you will object, there was no breeding to produce the bronco of whose wonderful qualities you have heretofore told us On the contrary, there was natural selection of the very best

Starting with pure blood—the Moorish horses carried by the Spanish Arabs to America, and there fugitive or abandoned—the survival of those fittest to flee from wolves, or to search pasture and water over immense stretches of prairie land bred the hardiest of stock Mated with the utmost care and skill could scarcely have done better by the race in all except beauty On the other hand, starting from the same stock let it run wild and interfered the horse would not lose his breeding and in a few generations the noblest race will degenerate to It is just this which has taken place in almost all the countries, which ought to possess the very highest grade of horseflesh

The Women In Maurier Draws.

We should feel as if Du Maurier had been fickle and faithless if he were suddenly to cease to offer us the tall tranquil persons he understands so well. They have an inestimable look of repose a kind of Greek serenity There is a figure in most of which we have forgotten the point and the date we mention for hazard—it was one in a hundred) which only needed to be modeled in clay to be a truly important creation. A couple of children address themselves to a youthful saint, who leans her hand upon a toilet table, presenting her back clothed in a loose gown, not gathered in at the waist to the spectator Her charming pose the way her head slowly turns the beautiful folds of her robe make her look more like a statuette in a museum than like a figure in Punch. We have forgotten what the children are saying, but we remember her charming attitude which is a capital example of the love of beauty for beauty's sake It is the same bias as the characteristic of the poet.—Henry James

The habit of bicycling does not find much favor in the eyes of the authorities of St Petersburg, and the wheelmen are restricted to the use of certain streets most of which are so badly paved that it is almost impossible for anybody to ride through them It is expressly stipulated, moreover, that no person under the age of eighteen shall enjoy the privilege of cycling, and that no very light machines shall be allowed in the streets Another order provides that after dark—that is to say, after the lamps are lighted—no cycles of any sort shall be permitted In all, there are nearly a score of rules and regulations for the guidance of velocipedists, some of the most amusing being provisions which they must do in the event of their frightening Horses. They are told, under such circumstances to dismount, and lay on several electric batteries. In spite of all precautions, however, it is said that the number of accidents that occur is constantly increasing.

Arab Cavalryman's Saddle

The Spahi rethinks his national dress furnished up to make him feel proud He rides in a saddle which is all but as bad as it can be the Indian used to make with straight post down pommel and cantle, writes Col Dodge U S A in Harper's The trees are long The pommel is coarse and rises with scarce slope to about the width of the man sits down The cantle rises almost perpendicularly and is two inches higher—really above the small of the back Saddlecloths and saltum woven girths and leather fittings The stirrup leathers hang from the middle of the tree and the foot thrust into a large stirrup with a foot projecting and as big as a platter A bare stirrup that is the ordinary type for fuel of bells and the horse is fitted with a long pendant or pear iron bridle with blinders The Spahi is saved these and by his bridle like the Mexican uses ribbons or reins or strings He has revolvers in his holsters—all of the best and newest pattern His sabre is long curved and heavy like the type of the aboriginal Indian of our plains When he sits in the saddle he is apt to lean forward from the hips down to keep the legs well but perpendicular and from the knee down it is thrust back at what we drill fed folk deem almost unhorsemanlike angle He has spurs because they prevent his drubbing his horse's flanks with his heels as well as of holding on by them Still fashion often outlives him for her own he puts on spurs and tells he has learned where they belong He is very expert in the saddle both in the way of tricks and at drill

Most Arab saddles have such an air and bridle between the legs and if you to spread your knees If you want to try the way Orientals use it sit in the saddle, put on extra wide cut seat chair, sit astride it, bring the back and then put your legs up on the side rounds Don't lean on the chair back Hold a candle behind you about two feet above the buttons on the bridle of your coat and you have it exactly If you want to ride this way make up your mind to the scheme of discomfort until you are used to it Your feet will go to sleep, and your hips will get tired enough to kill you howl But as you covered ten miles Even the old horseman who has had no English or to curb bit cavalry saddle must undergo the same trial

The Decay of Winter Sports In Canada.

The average habitant of the States" in going to Canada in the winter time expects I have no doubt to see the streets all hillsides covered with snow shoes and toboggans He may be surprised to learn that in there is but one really good toboggan slide in Canada, and that is at Montreal while snowshoers are numbers I now by tens where formerly they were counted by hundreds It is simple enough to understand what has brought about this change in what is usually accepted as the typical Canadian winter sport.

A few years ago when tobogganing and snow shoeing flourished purely for the sport, furnishing to the professional proprietor aided by the hotel proprietor conceived the idea of booming Montreal and incidentally enriching themselves by holding winter carnivals the main expenses of which were borne by Montreal merchant For a time they drew largely and Canada was literally alive with snowshoers and tobogganers but anon they palled and the last much advertised carnival was a highly uninteresting from a spectator's point of view —Harper's Weekly

Mr Gladstone as a Poet.

An Ode which Mr Gladstone composed when he was a younger man than he now is has been printed in London. It is full of trimmings, a fair specimen of which is the remark at the opening of the eleventh section

We are amid the tumult and the strife
Of a fierce oddying fight,
And to our mortal sight
Our fate is trembling in the balances.

This statement is truthful obviously true It is a standing truth and when properly regarded it is not discouraging to a man of the derring do kind. The last line of the stanza ought to prompt and impel all men to do their best amid the tumult, as we must trust Mr Gladstone himself is doing. As mere poetry the Ode is open to criticism upon four sides. Its thought is feeble, its wording poor, its figures incongruous and its rhyme bad Gladstone does not seem to be much of a poet—New York Sun.
